

Issue 1031 Year XVI	English Edition	Българско издание	ABOUT US	ADVERTISING	USEFUL LINKS	SITE MAP	CONTACTS
-----------------------------------	------------------------	--------------------------	--------------------------	-----------------------------	------------------------------	--------------------------	--------------------------

MONDAY, 22 June 2009

OPINION

Home Opinion

Majority Vote to Surprise Parties

TEXT SIZE A A A

Vassil Tonchev,
Sova Harris polling agency

A majority vote will seriously affect the results of the general elections. This vote is not based solely on party affiliation – the image of the candidate also counts. A regrouping of the votes should also be expected because I don't think that political party HQs would be able to direct the partiality of voters. The preferences would center onto concrete individuals supported by different parties. There would be three dominating political formations. GERB would have the most majority MPs (15-16), followed by the Bulgarian Socialist Party (10) and the Movement for Rights and Freedoms (5).

Advertisement

© 2009 Standart. Copyright 'Standart News Ltd.'. All rights reserved.

 CREATED BY 